To Whom It May Concern:

This letter verifies that the nature of our business is to conduct safety inspections at residential properties that are part of Real Estate transactions, which is deemed an essential service. Among other things, our team is checking the home for water issues, gas leaks, plumbing issues, and electrical hazards. We are following all safety protocols, including but not limited to, personal hygiene and social distancing. We have asked that the home be vacated during our inspection.

Sincerely,

John Boudreaux
